safety is of the utmost importance. All exits have a wander guard system and/or alarms when opened. The facility also has security cameras and exit doors to ensure all staff and residents are safe. Lastly, residents have access to a call system that alerts staff when they need immediate assistance.

ii. Individualized daily/nightly scheduling (e.g., daily rhythm, going to bed, waking);

Residents are given choices as to their preferred times for waking in the morning, bathing, activities, going to bed, etc. The primary staffing model enhances the staff's knowledge of these preferences and ensures that these preferences are honored consistently.

iii. Dining flexibility (e.g., time, access to dining style and menu choice);

Residents are encouraged and able to convey their preferences related to dining times, likes and dislikes and menu selection on admission and throughout their stay at Crystal Lake. Afternoon snacks include but are not limited to cheese and crackers, cookies, fresh fruit, etc.

iv. Lifestyle/activities flexibility;

Residents are made aware of all structured and individual activity options offered at Crystal Lake. This is in addition to their personal preferences related to the in-room and informal recreational options (arts and crafts, television, music, games, puzzles, exercise and stretch activities, reading, etc.) Their choices and preferences are documented and incorporated into their plan of care to the greatest extent possible.

c. Workforce administration:

i. How do staffing schedules and assignments ensure consistent delivery of resident services and foster relationship building?

Crystal Lake uses consistent staff model with their primary residents. This model fosters relationship building between caregiver and resident, enables the staff to learn the individual's preferences and routines.

ii. Administrative status strategies for dealing with licensed staff turn-over (e.g. Registered nurses, Licensed Practical nurses, Nursing Assistants)

Crystal Lake enjoys a high level of staff retention. The applicant will be cognizant of this stability throughout the transition period and will ensure that all staff realize they are the foundation of the facility and its reputation. The Applicant will work with the existing nursing management and staff, to the extent possible, to ensure a smooth transition to ensure this continuity lasts long into the future operations of the facility.
